Provide a copy of these instructions to helpers.

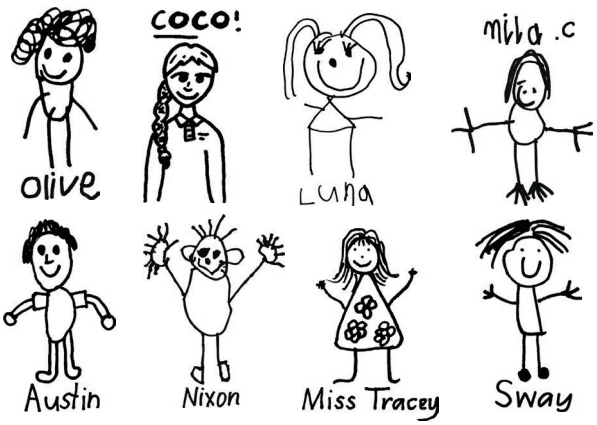

Let everyone know why they're doing drawings and what the end result will be. This helps get the children enthusiastic about the project. eg. "We're all doing a drawing that will be printed onto a tea towel with everyone's drawings included, just like a yearbook.

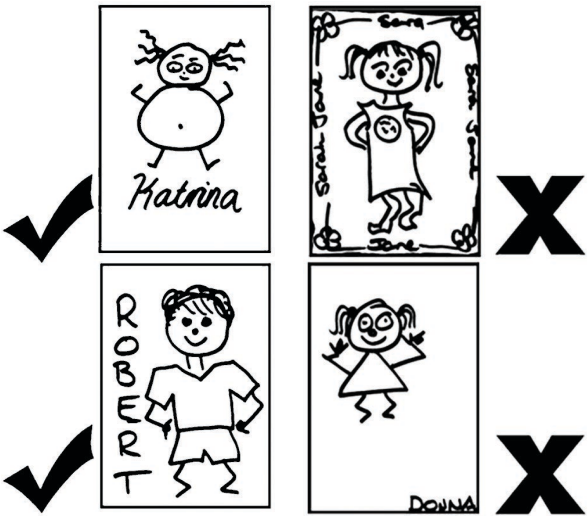

1. Draw pictures or place handprints in the centre of the drawing card.
2. Use black markers only (pens provided or black textas).
3. Use simple solid lines and avoid intricate details.
4. Use first names only. If some have the same name, use their initial too e.g. Sam G.
5. Ensure all names are legible and spelled correctly.
6. Include teachers and helpers too, draw yourself or have a student do it for you.
7. Check ALL drawings. Rub out marks or use liquid paper to cover mistakes. Draw again if needed.
8. Cross drawings off against the class list – you don't want to forget anyone!

You want every name to be readable and everyone to be happy with their drawing. If the pictures and names are not clear on paper, they won't be on the finished product. The result will be a gorgeous lasting keepsake of friends and teachers.
